

Christian Pulisic (USA)

Winger

Best player for the US Men's National Team

Plays for AC Milan in Serie A (Italy)

Cheeky nickname: Captain America

An inspiring presence for the US in National Team competitions

Quick and agile with the ball at his feet, but his somewhat diminutive size and frame leads some lesser skilled CONCACAF teams to play a "Hack-a-Shaq" style of game, fouling Pulisic often to keep him in check. Suffers from a history of soft-tissue injuries.

2

Allison Becker (BRA) Goalkeeper

Best keeper on the Brazil Men's National Team

Plays for Liverpool in the Premier League (England)

Widely considered to be the one of the best goalkeepers in the world, particularly in one-on-one situations against attackers.

Left his net empty and scored a last-second header in 2021 against West Bromwich that secured a win and helped Liverpool qualify for the UEFA Champions League.

Special Rules: Individual, Inspiring, Mighty, Duelist, Empty Net

Empty Net: Once per game, Allison can make a single ranged 12" attack that hits on a 2+. However, his Def drops to 2 until the start of his next turn.

Spellcaster (1): Veil of Shadows[1]* (2)

 Given that Allison automatically comes with the Unique spell Veil of Shadows, this spell Cannot be taken by another Spellcaster in the army.*

3

Marc-Andre ter Stegen Goalkeeper (GER)

Keeper on the Germany Men's National Team

Plays for Barcelona in La Liga (Spain)

Widely considered to be one of the top 5 goalkeepers in the world, skilled not only at guarding the net, but also acting as a "sweeper-keeper", not afraid to come off his line to clear a ball away from oncoming attackers and distributing the ball to his teammates.

5

Neymar Jr. (BRA)

Forward

Player on the Brazil Men's National Team

Plays for Al Hilal (Saudi Pro League)

Considered at one point to be one of the best players in the world, but near the end of his career now. Known not only for his scoring ability, but for his overly dramatic "flops", writhing on the ground trying to convince the referee to issue a card to the player that just fouled him. Usually results in little more than wasting time, allowing those around him to catch their breaths and rest. On occasion, Neymar has been given a yellow card for "simulation"—faking being injured in an unsportsmanlike fashion.

5	5+	4+	4	3	0	11/13	2

Special Rules:

Individual, Inspiring, Scorer, Simulation, Money Talks

Scorer: 18" shooting attack

Simulation: Once per game after given an Advance or Halt order, Neymar may enact Simulation at the end of the movement phase. Each friendly unit within 6" (but not Neymar himself) removes d3 points of damage (roll separately for each). Neymar automatically becomes disordered, unable to shoot this turn. In addition, roll a d6. On a roll of 1, Neymar has been given a Yellow Card, and his nerve is reduced to 9/11 to reflect that he is now that much closer to being kicked off the field.

Money Talks: This year, he took lots of money to play against weaker competition. Neymar has Me 3+ when attacking a unit with Ra 5+, 6+, or -.

6

Erling Haaland (Nor)

Forward

Norway Men's National Team

Plays for Manchester City in the Premier League (England)

One of the best pure scorers in the game today, setting the single season record for most goals in the Premier League last year. He has deadly accuracy in one-on-one battles with opposing goalkeepers.

Luis Suarez (URU)

Forward

Played for Uruguay's Men's National Team
Plays for Gremio in the Campeonato Brasileiro Serie A (Brazil)

Nickname: El Pistolero

Infamous for 2 incidents on the pitch

- Biting another player on the shoulder
- In the 2010 World Cup, he intentionally (and illegally) used his hands to deny a goal, earning him a red card. Ghana then missed the ensuing penalty kick, keeping the score tied at 1-1, with Uruguay eventually winning and advancing in the tournament.
